John Hayes McCorquodale

Son of Dorothy Hayes McDaniels & Wilmer Elmer "Corky" McCorquodale.

Step-son of Dr. J. Stites McDaniel.

Brother of David "Dave" Alan McCorquodale & Priscilla "Prissy" McCorquodale Phillips.

Johnny attended schools in Wilmington until his mother relocated to Dover (where she married Dr. J. Stites McDaniel, Jr.)...Johnny graduated from Caesar Rodney High School, Camden, Delaware in 1964.

He attended Fishburne Military School (Post Graduate).

He enlisted in the US Army on August 27, 1967 (served in Vietnam from Sept. 21, 1969 to Aug. 19, 1970)...he was a Pharmacy Specialist in Cam Ranh Bay.

Prior to that he had been stationed in Fayetteville, NC as well as Augusta, GA where he served as an ambulance driver.

He attended Texas A & M University and was enrolled in classes at Delaware State College at the time of his death.

Johnny was involved in a serious auto accident in the latter part of 1974 and never regained full mobility, nor his strength. During the winter months, he always felt cold no matter how warm the room was.

He is remembered for always having a very big heart and would give anyone the shirt off his back!
